

'HOMELESS OR NOT'

The slide show presentation contains six case studies. You have to decide whether in each case the person is homeless or not. You will be provided with the answers at the end of the quiz. How many did you get right?

'CELEBRITY SQUARES'

There are 20 images of famous people that are shown on screen. You have to guess whether each celebrity has been homeless or not. Start with the top left square (Halle Berry) first and decide whether you think she has been homeless before or not, then click on her to find out. Work your way through each celebrity travelling from left to right, top to bottom. The celebrities that have been homeless will have an accompanying explanation detailing the reasons for their homelessness (upon an additional click).

See how many you can guess correctly and ask yourself why you made these choices. See if you are surprised by any of the answers.

Who Wants To Win A Million?

You may not have 3 lifelines like in the real show, but see if you can go all the way to a virtual million without getting an answer wrong.

You are asked questions about different types of accommodation. Questions are multiple choice. Four possible answers are given (labelled A, B, C and D). On answering the first question correctly, you, the contestant 'win' £500.

Subsequent questions are played for increasingly large sums (roughly doubling at each turn).
